is "fantastic" and "saves kids' lives." Asked if he regretted his actions for even a moment, Ford replied: "Absolutely not."

But the mayor was much less emphatic about many other things, including his first vote on the issue, in December 2010, and when it returned to council last February because he had failed to repay, as ordered, $3,150 in improperly solicited donations by lobbyists, their clients and a business.

If the lawsuit launched by resident Paul Magder is successful, Ford would be kicked out of office unless the judge deems his actions inadvertent, an error of judgment, or the sum involved "insignificant." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Brazil knows how to throw a party

Hot, hot, hot.

Brazilian Day Canada celebration set to take over part of Yonge Street Monday with tropical rhythms, eats

LIA GRAINGER
toronto@metronews.ca

When Brazilian Canadians throw a party, everyone is invited.

That was the message at yesterday's press launch for Brazilian Day Canada, an all-day concert and party this Monday at Yonge-Dundas Square.

The festivities will stretch from Dundas to Shuter Street, as Yonge closes to traffic to create a pedestrian mall filled with the flavours of Brazil. There will be food, drink and tropical beats, and a main stage featuring a range of contemporary musical acts imported straight from Brazil.

"When people hear Brazilian party, they know they're going to have a good time," says event producer Tania Nuttall. "We're a passionate, vibrant people; these events are not a tough sell."

As if to confirm her statement, she ushers out a pair of spectacularly dressed dancers who give a raucous sneak peek at the lively talent that will be on offer.

In addition to Monday's party, Brazilian Day Canada also hosts an accompanying festival featuring a series of cultural events. There is an art exhibition in the Toronto City Hall Rotunda until Sept. 2, a flag-raising at Nathan Phillips Square on Sept. 7, and an awards ceremony on Parliament Hill in Ottawa on Sept. 25.

This year's festivities also mark a very special occasion for Brazilians living here: the 25th anniversary of Brazilian migration to Canada. Nuttall says Brazilians in Canada have a special expression for the connection they feel with their community here. It goes Afincou a bandeira no solo Canadense; I planted my flag on Canadian soil.

And there's another happy expression that Nuttall says embodies the spirit of the festival: "In Brazil we sing 'Sou brasileiro com muito orgulho, com muito amor. I am Brazilian with great pride and great love,'" says Nuttall. "We look forward to sharing that sentiment with all Canadians."

Free musical acts this Monday at Yonge-Dundas Square

- Toronto dance troupe Brazil Dance World
- Jorge e Mateus, one of Brazil's most famous Música sertaneja (country music) duos
- The samba-infused contemporary rock of Thaigo Corrêa
- Singer songwriter Leo Rodriguez of the hit "Bara Bara Bere Bere"
- Internationally renowned Brazilian DJ Tiko's Groove at the after-party ($30), hosted by The Hard Rock Café.

Brazilian dancers Jeanette Simoes, left, and Jessica "Samba Jess" Semedo will be performing at Brazilian Day Canada, an all-day concert and party this Monday, Sept. 3, at Yonge-Dundas Square. LIA GRAINGER/FOR METRO

Red Rocket to get a boost on 34 routes

A TTC streetcar travels westbound along Queen's Quay past two of the iconic structures of the city: Rogers Centre and the CN Tower. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

More subway trains, streetcars and buses will be plying Toronto streets next week as the TTC begins to roll out service increases to meet unexpectedly high demand.

Thirty-four routes will have shorter wait times, starting Sept. 3, including the Yonge-University-Spadina subway line, the 504 King streetcar, and the 320 Yonge bus.

Additional service will be added at times that are currently busy, which vary depending on the route.

Changes come after the TTC announced it expects 512 million rides this year, up from initial projections of 503 million, which will

Cost of the better way

$2.1M

The additional services will cost $2.1 million, while the projected increase in ridership is expected to bring in an extra $9 million.

boost revenue $9 million over budget. The additional services cost $2.1 million.

"There will be less waiting time, less overcrowding," said TTC spokesperson Danny Nicholson. "We need the extra service to meet demand."

The TTC always changes schedules in the fall as people shift from summer activities to school and work, but the additional money this year allows for more service increases than usual, said Nicholson.

Wait times for the 6 Bay bus from Edward St. to Union Station will be reduced from 6 minutes, 30 seconds to 3 minutes, 15 seconds, said Nicholson.

Subway trains will arrive 14 seconds earlier during midday from Monday to Friday on the Yonge-University-Spadina line. And waits for the King streetcar will be 15 seconds shorter at certain times.

More service increases will start Oct. 7.

Murder victim's aunt makes emotional plea for tips

Her voice choking, the aunt and legal guardian of a 24-year-old Toronto man who was savagely attacked in a park appealed to her community to reveal information about the killers.

"He called me mum,"

Deanna Parlee said at a late-morning news conference Wednesday. "He lived with challenges and was overcoming them."

George Fawell's body was found last Friday morning by Salvation Army outreach workers near the GO train tracks that run through Jimmie Simpson Park in east-end Toronto.

His body had been mutilated by "one of the worst sharp-force injuries" a veteran police detective said he had ever seen.

"George was a human being," his shaken aunt said. "No one deserves to be dumped like garbage."

Toronto police Det. Sgt. Gary Giroux said the post-mortem on Fawell's body took 12 hours, the longest he's known in his 16 years of as a detective.

"There were stab wounds to the chest and chopping wounds to the head. It would have been a sustained attack," said Giroux. "A great deal of anger, rage and brutality. The attack was entirely over-the-top personal."

At least two attackers killed Fawell and they, like he, would be part of the east-end community.

Giroux warned anyone who might be helping to shield the attackers or destroy evidence: "Don't do that. There will be criminal consequences." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

'Half-Breed' burgers chopped from menu after complaints

Customer protest.

Co-owner of Holy Chuck burger joint says he didn't realize term is a racial slur

The owners of a popular Toronto hamburger joint have taken two items off their menu after facing a slew of complaints that the burgers had derogatory names.

The "Half-Breed" burger and the "Dirty Drunken Half-Breed" burger had been staples on the menu at Holy Chuck Burgers for about seven months. Last week, after a customer's objection swelled into a larger protest, the shop was inundated with phone calls and online criticisms.

Co-owner Bill Koutroubis said Wednesday that he never intended to offend anyone, and neither he nor his partner realized the term is a racial slur.

"To racially slur an ethnicity in a multicultural society, it's the totally wrong thing to do," Koutroubis said, clearly upset. He added that his background is Greek and he would never knowingly insult another cultural group.

The 'H' word

"The term 'half-breed' ... is really a negative, disparaging and offensive term used to describe people of mixed ancestry, specifically people of mixed indigenous and non-indigenous ancestry."

Pamela Palmater, Ryerson University professor

"We apologized on Twitter and again I reiterate the apology. It was never meant to be malicious. It was just an innocent play on words on our part."

In December, local Geoff King flagged Holy Chuck's Twitter account about the offensive nature of the term. The restaurant replied by saying that wasn't how they saw it and Koutroubis said Wednesday they didn't look up the word afterwards.

He said the term "half-breed" was coined because the patties are mixed with two kinds of meat: Cured bacon and beef.

For the burger with extra toppings they chose "drunken," because the veal cheek vino chili topping has alcohol. And "dirty," because it's messy to eat.

Koutroubis said his partner,

John Prassoulis, hadn't heard of the Métis — people of European and First Nations ancestry — before this and that while he had, he didn't know about the negative term.

"Within the hour I was informed it was a racial slur it was removed immediately," he said.

Reached Wednesday, King said: "Frankly, I told the guy to Google it. Pleading ignorance doesn't really count in this day and age."

Deficit woes

Cities need to review sick day policy: Premier

Ontario municipalities must ask themselves if they can afford to continue allowing police and firefighters to bank unused sick days and cash them in on retirement, Premier Dalton McGuinty said Wednesday. The Liberals are trying to impose new contracts on teachers that would eliminate the practice.

The government says it can't afford those benefits anymore. "From our perspective those are one of the things that we've got to take a new and fresh look at today," he said.

Lemurs high-tail it from pen at Toronto Zoo

Lemurs on the lam: A screen grab from a video shows two long-tailed lemurs enjoying their freedom at the Toronto Zoo on Wednesday.

CONTRIBUTED/NUALA ZIETSMAN

Nuala Zietsma had just arrived at the Toronto Zoo with her two-year-old son when she caught a daring escape on camera: Two long-tailed lemurs traipsing around the African Rainforest Pavilion on Wednesday morning, after they found a way out of their pen.

"There were probably four or five of them in there," she said. "Two of them were walking around the fence, and the other two were coming down the fence."

The video clearly shows two lemurs keeping a safe distance from human onlookers.

"I called the zoo's emergency line and the zookeeper arrived, looking a little shocked," she said. "They immediately evacuated the building. Just as we were coming out, I saw that a whole class of students was about to go in."

Zoo spokesperson Lesley Dean said the zoo installed an "introductory enclosure" within the lemur exhibit a few weeks ago to do a "nice and slow introduction" of the new female that has been added to the troop.

Dean said the escape happened because the lemurs were able to get to the top of the enclosure and jump over the Plexiglas barrier. "There was no threat to the public," she said, "as lemurs are not an aggressive species. Some zoos have walk-through lemur exhibits."

While surprised at first, Zietsma said the experience was exciting, especially for her son. "I'm sure he would have loved to have played with them," she said. "But it's a wild animal. You just never know."

T.O. man's DNA could help ID Richard III

A team of archeologists, historians, geneticists and a forensic psychologist hope they will make history within the next two weeks and find the burial place and skeletal remains of Richard III in the most unlikely of spots, a parking lot in Leicester, England.

And if the latest media reports from the dig site prove to be true, the team may already have found medieval walls that might be part of the church where documents show Richard III was buried.

The Greyfriars project has captured the imagination of a nation — and none more than native Canadian Michael Ibsen, a 55-year-old who now lives in London, England, where he makes furniture.

Ibsen is a descendant of Richard III's eldest sister Anne, the Duchess of Exeter. And he, or rather his DNA, will play a key role in the investigation should a skeleton be found underneath the parking lot.

with his sister who lives on Vancouver Island and his brother who lives in Toronto — will be the genetic key that will help make history and answer the question: Is it or isn't it Richard III?

"If they find a skeleton I don't know how I'll feel," Ibsen said. "But I think the historical significance for this country would be significant."

"To realize we've inherited his family's DNA and know that it's gone to help identify him that would be fantastic and a privilege really. But it's a big if."

Mitt's war cry: Veterans!

The Romney line.

They fought for the U.S. abroad, but there are no jobs for them back home ... because of Barack Obama Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney ducked out of his own convention Wednesday and promptly lit into U.S. President Barack Obama.

Romney castigated Obama for what he claimed is a failure to create jobs for returning military veterans.

"This president's greatest failure has been his failure to deliver those jobs" for veterans, Romney said at the American Legion Convention in Indiana.

Meanwhile, Obama — campaigning before a university crowd in Virginia — declared himself unimpressed with the Republican convention.

"You can listen very carefully, very hard, and you won't hear them offer a clear serious path forward," he said.

in Tampa, Fla. — Romney's vice-presidential running mate Paul Ryan was making waves.

In pre-released excerpts from a major Wednesday speech, Ryan declared Romney is ready to meet "serious challenges in a serious way.

He said he and Romney won't duck the tough issues and won't shirk from leading.

Ryan is pledging to solve America's economic problems and says: "We don't have that much time."

She said Yahoo is apologizing to Romney and his supporters.

Chalian spoke out just before Yahoo began its live coverage of the Republican convention on Tuesday evening.

Flooding

Thousands told to leave low-lying areas

Tens of thousands of people had been told ahead of Isaac to leave low-lying areas of Mississippi and Louisiana, including 700 patients of Louisiana nursing homes. Mississippi shut down the state's 12 shorefront casinos. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Political implications

Storm creates opportunities for both parties

Isaac posed political challenges with echoes of those that followed Katrina.

U.S. President Barack Obama sought to demonstrate his ability to guide the nation through a natural disaster, and Republicans tried to reassure residents as they formally nominated former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney as their presidential candidate.

Louisiana's Republican Gov. Bobby Jindal said the Obama administration's disaster declaration fell short. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Exactly 7 years after Katrina, Isaac takes Louisiana by storm

Floodwaters. Rescue workers flock to New Orleans and rural communities to help stranded residents

Tropical storm Isaac continued to lash New Orleans with heavy rains Wednesday even as it was downgraded to a tropical storm, as a newly-fortified levee system appeared to be holding exactly seven years after Hurricane Katrina devastated the city. In a drenched part of rural Louisiana, rescuers on boats snatched dozens of people stranded by floodwaters.

In New Orleans, power lines were downed and debris littered the streets, prompting officials to impose a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Louisiana officials said they may have to intentionally breach a levee in a flooded area as Isaac made a slow, drenching slog inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

In a hard-hit rural area southeast of New Orleans, officials rescued dozens of people by boat, while authorities feared more in Plaquemines Parish could need help after a night of slashing rain and fierce winds that knocked out power to more than 700,000 households.

Isaac has top sustained winds of 112 km/h, just below the hurricane threshold of 119 km/h.

The hurricane also cancelled commemoration ceremonies Wednesday for Katrina's 1,800 dead in Louisiana and Mississippi. Isaac was testing a New Orleans levee system bolstered by $14 billion in federal repairs and improvements after the catastrophic failures during Katrina.

Army Corps spokeswoman Rachel Rodi said the city's bigger, stronger levees were withstanding the assault.

"The system is performing as intended, as we expected," she said. "We don't see any issues with the hurricane system at this point."

Rescuers in boats and trucks plucked a handful of people who became stranded by floodwaters in thinly populated areas of southeast Louisiana.

Although Isaac was much weaker than Katrina, the threat of dangerous storm surges and flooding from heavy rain was expected to last all day and into the night as the immense comma-shaped storm crawled across Louisiana.

Water driven by the large and powerful storm flooded over a 30-kilometre stretch of one levee in Plaquemines Parish. The levee, one of many across the low-lying coastal zone, is not part of the new defences constructed in New Orleans after Katrina.

The storm not only coincided with the Katrina anniversary, but also the first major speeches of the Republican National Convention in Tampa, Florida. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Woman in coma after acid attack

Aggravated assault. Boyfriend charged after Quebecer, 29, had corrosive material splashed on her face

A Quebec woman is in an induced coma and has her face covered in bandages after having corrosive acid thrown in her face.

More than 4,000 messages of support on Facebook have rolled in for Tanya St-Arnauld.

The 29-year-old St-Arnauld remains in hospital with burns to her body.

Police in Longueuil, south of Montreal, arrested Nikolas Stefanatos shortly after the Sunday morning attack.

Police say Stefanatos is St-Arnauld's boyfriend.

He appeared in court Monday and was charged with aggravated assault.

A police spokesman says investigators have not yet been able to question St-Arnauld because of her condition.

Stefanatos is to appear in court for a bail hearing on Friday. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nabbed monkey returned

Sounding more Hollywood caper than Animal Planet, the saga of Hercules the kidnapped squirrel monkey included a risky heist, an anonymous phone call and a secret exchange on a New Brunswick country road on Wednesday. The pint-sized primate was nabbed from his cage sometime after the Magnetic Hill Zoo in Moncton closed Tuesday. Hours after staff discovered Hercules was missing, zoo manager Bruce Dougan met with a man on a rural road to reclaim the monkey. Hercules was returned in a cardboard box.

Trash the dress. Death has some questioning photo-shoot bridal fad

Not really trash

According to Matt Boyce, owner of Xero Digital Photography in Toronto, the term "trash the dress" is a bit of a misnomer. While gowns do get wet and dirty during shoots, most of the brides he has photographed intend to keep their dresses — but not before having a bit of fun.

A photo shoot in a Quebec river that went horribly wrong when a bride was dragged into the water and drowned is shining a light on the growing "trash-the-dress" phenomenon.

Maria Pantazopoulos, a 30-year-old real-estate agent, was posing in her wedding dress Friday for a photo shoot along the Ouareau River in Rawdon, Que., about 60 kilometres north of Montreal, when her gown became waterlogged and dragged her into the water. Her body was found by a scuba diver two hours later.

Photographer Louis Pagakis said he did everything he could to save Pantazopoulos when she went under.

"She had her wedding dress on and she said, 'Take some pictures of me while I swim a little bit in the lake.' She went in and her dress got heavy, I tried everything I could to save her," Pagakis told CTV Montreal. "I jumped in, I was screaming and yelling. We tried our best."

The tragedy has highlighted some of the more unorthodox — and even unsafe — situations in which brides and grooms will put themselves as part of this increasingly popular form of photography. The trash-the-dress meme aims to capture images of brides and grooms, dressed in their wedding attire, in fantastical situations or exotic locales.

A ritual begun several years ago as novelty photography akin to that found only in the pages of fashion magazines, trash the dress has grown in popularity thanks in part to the unconventional wedding work of Las Vegas photographer John Michael Cooper, whose famous image of a bride nearly enveloped in her burning gown pushed expectations.

Ukraine. Supporters cry 'Shame!' as judge denies former-PM's appeal

Ukraine's highest court on Wednesday upheld the conviction of former Prime Minister Yulia Tymoshenko for abuse of office, a case that has strained the former Soviet state's ties with the West.

Judge Oleksandr Elfimov said the court had "found no grounds to uphold (Tymoshenko's) appeal" of the verdict, and that the seven year prison term is "adequate to the gravity of the crime." Several members of the audience yelled "Shame!" upon hearing the verdict.

Several Western nations have criticized the case against Tymoshenko.

"Obviously, we are disappointed by the decision," U.S. State Department spokeswoman Victoria Nuland said Wednesday. "We continue to urge the government of Ukraine to free Mrs. Tymoshenko and other members of the government and to restore their full political and civil rights."

Lawyers for Tymoshenko are appealing the conviction in the European Court for Human Rights. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brown bear Masa finally leaves bar after 18 years

Lithuania. Animal, 20 years old, taken to German park where her former owner says she will visit

After 18 years of hanging out in a Lithuanian bar, Masa the bear has had enough and is retiring.

The 20-year-old brown bear was released from her 15-square-metre cage on Wednesday and handed to animal-rights activists, who plan to take her on 20-hour drive to a bear park in Duren, Germany.

Antanina Vrubliauskienė, who bought Masa as a cub in 1994, watched teary-eyed as the bear was tranquilized and loaded into a van. She plans to visit Masa in her new home 1,700 kilometres away.

Masa spent her bar years locked in a cage next to the door where customers fed her, but some complained that she was kept in cruel conditions, prompting her retirement.

Jailed Muslims defy guards in the name of God

U.S. Taliban fighter suing prison over policy preventing him from saying group prayers

American Taliban fighter John Walker Lindh and other Muslims housed at a special federal prison unit in Indiana have used the guise of religion to show defiance toward their captors, a prison security official testified Wednesday.

Lindh, who is suing to overturn a policy preventing him and the other Muslims he is housed with from performing their five daily prayers as a group, once delivered an incendiary sermon in Arabic at the Terre Haute prison's Communication Management Unit despite a requirement that inmates speak English except for ritual prayers, security official Tim Coleman testified.

year sentence for aiding the Taliban during the 2001 U.S.-led invasion of Afghanistan, is suing to overturn a policy that prevents him and the other Muslim detainees from conducting their five daily prayers as a group. Lindh says group prayer is required under the school of Islam to which he adheres, and that the prison policy violates a 1993 law barring the government from curtailing religious speech without showing a compelling interest.

An official testified Monday — the first day of the trial — that the federal prison system barred unsupervised group prayer by inmates after a 2004 government report that raised concerns about the radicalization of Muslim inmates following 9/11 terrorist attacks. The official said there aren't enough Muslim chaplains to allow for supervised group prayer at the more than 100 federal prisons.

More NATO troops killed by Afghans

Three more NATO soldiers have been killed in what is fast becoming an epidemic of Afghan soldiers — often insurgents in disguise — attacking their western mentors.

Wednesday's attack, which occurred in southern Afghanistan, brings to 45 the number of NATO troops who've died this year in so-called "green-on-blue" shootings.

Tennis ref lobs not-guilty plea in murder rap

Death by cup.

Prosecutors allege woman beat, stabbed her husband with a coffee cup

A professional tennis referee beat her elderly husband to death with a coffee cup and used the broken handle to repeatedly stab him before judging a tennis match and getting a manicure, prosecutors said in court Wednesday.

The actions of Lois Ann Goodman showed premeditation and a lack of remorse, Deputy District Attorney Sharon Ransom said while urging a judge to keep her bail at $1 million.

Goodman, who has refereed matches between many tennis greats, was arrested last week

Lois Goodman, rear, with attorney Alison Triessl. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

in New York just before she was to referee at the U.S. Open.

After considering defence arguments, Superior Court Commissioner Mitchell Block reduced bail to $500,000 for the 70-year-old defendant and allowed home confinement with electronic monitoring after bail is posted.

In making the ruling, Block said he considered her close ties to the community, her age and lack of a criminal record.

About two dozen supporters filled the Van Nuys courtroom as Goodman pleaded not guilty to murdering her 80-year-old husband.

Her husband, Alan Goodman, died in April. Authorities initially believed he likely fell down stairs at home while she was away, but later decided it was murder.

Defence attorney Alison Triessl has claimed her client was physically incapable of committing the crime. Triessl wrote in a previous filing that Goodman has many infirmities, including knee and shoulder replacements.

The Goodmans had been married nearly 50 years and have three grown daughters.

A convict consoles his son in Ahmadabad, India, on Wednesday while being taken to prison after a court verdict in a 2002 religious-violence case. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indian court convicts 32 Hindus over deadly riots

2002 Gujarat killings.

More verdicts to be issued this year for anti-Muslim clash that left 1,100 dead

An Indian court convicted a former state government minister and 31 other people Wednesday in connection with deadly anti-Muslim riots that shook the western state of Gujarat in 2002.

The violence, which killed more than 1,100 people, almost all Muslims, began after a train fire on Feb. 27, 2002, that killed 60 Hindu pilgrims. Hindu mobs, convinced Muslims set the fire, rampaged through towns and villages burning Muslim homes and businesses.

Rights groups and survivors have accused the state government, controlled by the Hindu right-wing Bharatiya Janata Party, of not doing enough to stop the violence, and even stoking it.

The convictions Wednesday stemmed from an attack outside Gujarat's capital that killed 95 people. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Previous convictions

Wednesday's convictions were not the first linked to the rioting.

- In July, a special court found 21 people guilty in the murders of 11 members of a Muslim family.
- Last November, 31 Hindus were sentenced to life imprisonment for killing dozens of Muslims by setting a building on fire.

Economist doubts 'dead money' claim

BoC. Carney made too much of $526B held in reserve by corporations, says TD Bank's Craig Alexander

When Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney called $526 billion in corporate cash "dead money," he was overstating the facts, a chief economist of a major Canadian bank says.

Businesses have been a major contributor to the economic recovery from the recession, TD Bank chief economist Craig Alexander wrote in a note to clients Wednesday.

Companies have created 80 per cent of the 721,700 new jobs since mid-2009, while business investment in machinery and equipment is just 2.3 per cent below its pre-recession peak.

"It is true that firms have increased their holdings of cash, but calling all of it dead money is overstated," TD Bank chief economist Craig Alexander wrote in a note to clients Wednesday.

Having said that, Alexander also agreed that Canadian companies need to do more to boost the country's competitiveness.

"The simple truth is that, at the economy-wide level, businesses under invested prior to the recession and they cannot let the prevailing risks paralyze them from investing in the coming quarters. They have to build for the future."

Other reports have said paying the excess out to investors in the form of higher dividends may not do much to boost the economy. Most shareholders are reinvesting their dividends to boost their retirement nest eggs rather than using the money to buy things, Stefane Marion, chief economist of the National Bank of Canada, wrote in a recent commentary for clients. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICES

Books. Kobo poised to sell ebooks, e-readers in U.S.

Kobo has struck a partnership with the American Booksellers Association to sell its e-reader device and ebooks through independent U.S. bookstores.

Toronto-based Kobo says it expects to launch its partnership with nearly 2,000 ABA-member stores this fall, starting with 400 stores.

The deal will see ABA members offer Kobo e-readers, ebooks and accessories and share in the revenue from every sale.

ABA members will also be able to offer ebooks online to their customers.

Samsung rallies with Galaxy Note

Fresh off a legal battle with Apple, Samsung is announcing a new version of the Galaxy Note, an offbeat, oversized smartphone that's become a surprise hit. The 5.5-inch (14-centimetre) screen is narrower but longer than on the first version. The processor is faster, and the software has been further adapted for the included stylus — the phone's signature feature.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL WITH BOOZE AND BREATHALYZERS

HE SAYS...
John Mazerolle
metronews.ca/voices/
he-says

I find back-to-school easier than most.

Some people might say that's because I'm not going to school and I have no children, but "phooey on them," as the kids say.

I prefer to think my distance from the chaos provides me with perspective, the same way any given person yelling at the TV could do a better job with the Blue Jays than the paid personnel up close who can only focus on one torn ligament at a time.

For instance, a back-to-school detail I've noticed that's eluded some in the mall-strom is how most shopping lists this time of year focus solely on the student.

But what about the parents' needs?

There are already dozens of columns out there about what kids must have, so here's a look at what moms and dads should buy for a seamless return to 10 months of the ABCs (Angst, Bullying and Confusion).

Grade school:

You need:

- A pre-recording of Carson Daly interviewing Dr. Sanjay Gupta, in case they won't go to bed. Tell them this is what all late-night TV is like.
- The Busdrivalyzer, for overprotective parents — allows you to make sure that the driver on the bus blows clean, clean, clean.
- A pre-written "You're going to have the time of your life!" speech for when you get the urge to tell your children that school is 12 years of emotional and physical violence and run, kid, run break the connected mitten strings and run!

Middle school:

You need:

- A sideways ball cap and a compact disc with an explicit lyrics sticker on it, to let your kids know that you're with it. If you work out a little rap like, "It might seem cool/But a bully is a straight-up fool," your child will remember it forever.
- A kitchen switch that allows you to turn the shower to 'icy cold' after 15 minutes or when the steam sets off the fire alarm, whichever comes first.
- A pre-written, vaguely worded "birds and bees" speech for when you get the urge to say, look kid, the idea of explaining sex to you is just as gross and disturbing to me as it is to you, so ask that Emily girl you like or something.

High school:

- If you would like your child to answer with more than "nothing" when you ask about school, then you'll need, at minimum, the rack. If you want more than "It was fine and they didn't give any homework," an iron maiden.
- An ejection seat that allows you to let your child out in front of their school while driving 100 km/h, thus avoiding embarrassment for the student.
- A pre-written, "You can be whatever you set your mind to!" speech for when you get the urge to say, "You can do whatever you set your mind to provided it fits your socio-economic status, gender, race, last name, the public's perception of you, and then you get incredibly lucky!"

All ages:

- Booze. But you knew that.

It's back-to-school time, which means an expert, i.e. a Metro columnist, has the best advice. You might want to take notes. ISTOCK

La Tomatina makes a gushy scene

ALBERTO SAIZ/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Running red

Spanish city turns to tomato warfare

Revellers kiss each other during the annual Tomatina tomato fight in the village of Bunol, Spain, Wednesday.

At this time of year, the town hosts one of the largest food fights in the world, with 40,000 people gathering to throw more than 100 tonnes of tomatoes at each other. The tradition has stood since 1945 and is embraced by locals and tourists. METRO

What did this stem from?

"We don't have much space, but there is no other way."

Coun. Rafael Perez, festival spokesman, acknowledges the chaotic nature of La Tomatina. However, the prestige and tourism the town gains from the events should secure its future.

X-Men master more into reality than fantasy

Gordon Smith. Special effects artist pioneered a process that became the industry standard

BACKSTAGE PASS

Ian Gormely
scene@metronews.ca

For artists, there's nothing worse than being remembered for inferior work, or at least work you perceive as inferior.

Take local retired special effects wiz Gordon Smith, whose work on the first two X-Men films is currently being celebrated with an exhibit at the TIFF Bell Lightbox. While curator Sylvia Frank says that the full body blue silicone prosthetics created for the character Mystique "sent his career skyrocketing," Smith quickly made his exit after completing work on the series' second installment.

"X-Men was one of the last movies I did," he says. "I'd been in the racket for 30 years."

Props like Wolverine's claws and Mystique's skin prosthetics on display at the free exhibit remain Smith's most high-profile creations. But he prefers the real to the imaginary when creating.

"I don't have to pretend Mystique is anything but a person in blue covered in scales," he explains.

Smith worked on six films with the writer-director Oliver Stone, including historical drama JFK.

"That's probably more me than this stuff," he admits. "I love the art of illusion. Something like JFK, everybody knows. There's a huge responsibility to the audience."

He never intended to make a career in effects. He studied theatre at school and was a struggling actor when a friend needed help creating decomposed bodies for the 1980 Japanese feature Virus.

His work landed him a two-page spread in the Globe and Mail.

"All you have to do is make a bunch of rubber things and get two pages of press," he recalls thinking. "Maybe I should see what this is all about."

At the time, the standard prosthetic was made out of liquid latex, which was stored in hazardous ammonia to keep from hardening "I refused to use these materials on an actor. So I had to create my own."

Taking a cue from breast implants, Smith developed a process that would make silicone the industry standard. "If they can put it in somebody, that's good enough for me." Now, he says, virtually every studio in the world uses it.

Despite his stature, Smith remains humble about his accomplishments.

"He knows how pivotal he was in the industry," says Frank. "But I think he was very surprised that we would want to focus on him specifically. Earlier this week when we brought him through I think he was kind of blown away. I think he really did like this."

Boeckner and Daniel make for a Divine Fit(s)

New band. Divine Fits came together gradually over the course of 2011, growing from the mutual respect between musicians

Over the course of one year, Dan Boeckner saw both of his acclaimed Canadian indie-rock outfits — Wolf Parade and Handsome Furs — break up.

For the first time in nearly a decade, the prolific Boeckner was a man without a band. Some people might have been tempted to take some downtime to mull their next career move. But not the 34-year-old Boeckner, who formed the trio Divine Fits with Spoon frontman Britt Daniel before the world even knew that Handsome Furs had split.

"I don't really take breaks," said the B.C.-raised rocker in a recent telephone interview from his new home in Los Angeles.

"I never consider that because I don't like to stop working. Any time I get tired or burnt out on the road ... I always think back to my telemarketing job in Montreal. I had this awful telemarketing job and ... I think back to that and I think back to working a night shift at a bar and being a short-order cook.

"Then I don't feel so tired. Well, at least I'm not in front of a dishwasher every night, covered in half-eaten hamburgers, smelling like bleach, waiting to get home to write songs."

tual respect between Boeckner and Daniel.

First they swapped songs back and forth on the Internet, and by the end of the year, Boeckner was living on the top floor of Daniel's Los Angeles home, thus allowing the newly minted band the opportunity to spend nearly all of their free time worrying over the tunes that now form their debut, A Thing Called Divine Fits.

Somehow, the album seems a perfectly balanced blend of its dual songwriters, blending the flab-free rock economy Daniel is known for with Boeckner's penchant for spontaneous, dangerous pop.

While Boeckner is glad the record reflects their musical signatures more or less equally, he says that wasn't the goal.

"We never talked about what the band was going to sound like — we didn't sit down and have an esthetics meeting," he said with a laugh.

Out of this world music. New will.i.am track gets broadcast from Mars

Some might say Wednesday's Mars musical broadcast was one small step for will.i.am.

His new track Reach for the Stars had its galactic debut on Aug. 28 when it was transmitted from 300 million miles away via the Curiosity rover.

"Today is about inspiring young people to lead a life without limits placed on their potential and to pursue collaboration between humanity and technology through STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics) education. I know my purpose is to inspire young people, because they will keep inspiring me back," the Black Eyed Peas and solo artist said in a release.

In addition to his music, will.i.am — born William James Adams, Jr. — has been known as a science education advocate. His i.am angel Foundation and Discovery Education focuses on teaching STEAM subjects in schools. The artist also announced a $10 million classroom education initiative during the NASA press conference about the song broadcast. The money will reach 25 million students annually in the U.S.

time that a recorded song has been broadcast to Earth from another planet, it isn't the first song broadcast in space. NASA sent out Across the Universe to the rest of the universe on the 40th anniversary of the Beatles' song. And, Saturn's radio emissions were turned into audible frequencies, which were then turned into a composition called Sun Rings by the Kronos Quartet.

Duran Duran. Concerts cancelled following Nick Rhodes' illness

Duran Duran is cancelling several concerts because of the illness of keyboard player Nick Rhodes.

The band had already called off concerts over the past week in Pittsburgh, Kettering, Ohio, outside Chicago, and in Atlantic City, N.J.

The band had hoped to reschedule some of the shows, but decided to cancel the final half-dozen shows on its North American tour. That includes the four U.S. concerts and two shows in Orillia, Ont.

The band has said Rhodes is suffering from exhaustion or a possible viral infection.

According to the band's website Nick held out all week, hoping that he would be well enough to perform again. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Glass Tiger embarks on mini-Canadian tour

Don't call it a comeback. Thin Red Line Anniversary album sparks demand for shows across the country

Glass Tiger frontman Alan Frew says renewed interest in '80s music has been building over the last decade and has now turned in to a full-on revival.

"I've been watching it ramp up. ... I've been performing at festivals looking out at the audiences anywhere from 3,000 to 23,000 ... and at least a third or more of the audience couldn't possibly have seen Glass Tiger the first time around," said Frew, who is embarking on a mini-tour with his bandmates.

"If I'm talking to any kids afterwards ... I'll ask them: 'What is it about the '80s?' Some of them will say they're tired of rap, some of them will say they're tired of the dark stuff, some of them just say they just love the way '80s music was really poppy and positive ... so I've been watching this ramp up to this moment where it really seems like it's a resurgence."

It's been 25 years since the release of Glass Tiger's hit debut album The Thin Red Line, and though the band has since faded from the charts, the Scottish-born Frew never stopped making music.

He co-wrote the ubiquitous Olympic anthem I Believe, has penned songs with Canadian country crooner Johnny Reid and came up with the Toronto Maple Leafs theme song Free to Be (This is Canada's Song).

And he has continued to perform with Glass Tiger, even though some people seem to be under the impression that the band broke up.

"We always get a chuckle when people meet us and say 'Oh you guys are getting back together again' but it's mainly because ... I've kept the number of shows down because I was always doing other things so I told our agent, you know, keep it to about 15 shows a year," said Frew.

"So we've been doing (shows) kind of steadily, certainly enough so we feel very much like a band and we're all together. So for us this feels perfectly in sync."

The Thin Red Line 2CD Anniversary Edition contains live songs, b-sides, unreleased demos, two new tracks and a cover of the Beatles classic You've Got to Hide Your Love Away.

O Canada! Alice Munro, Neil Young add heft to Canuck fall book season

Publishing industry. Lots of anticipation around upcoming releases has book-buying public chomping at the bit

New works by CanLit favourites Alice Munro, M.G. Vassanji, Susan Swan and David Bergen will highlight the fall book season, along with a memoir by rock legend Neil Young and a children's book from rapper K'naan.

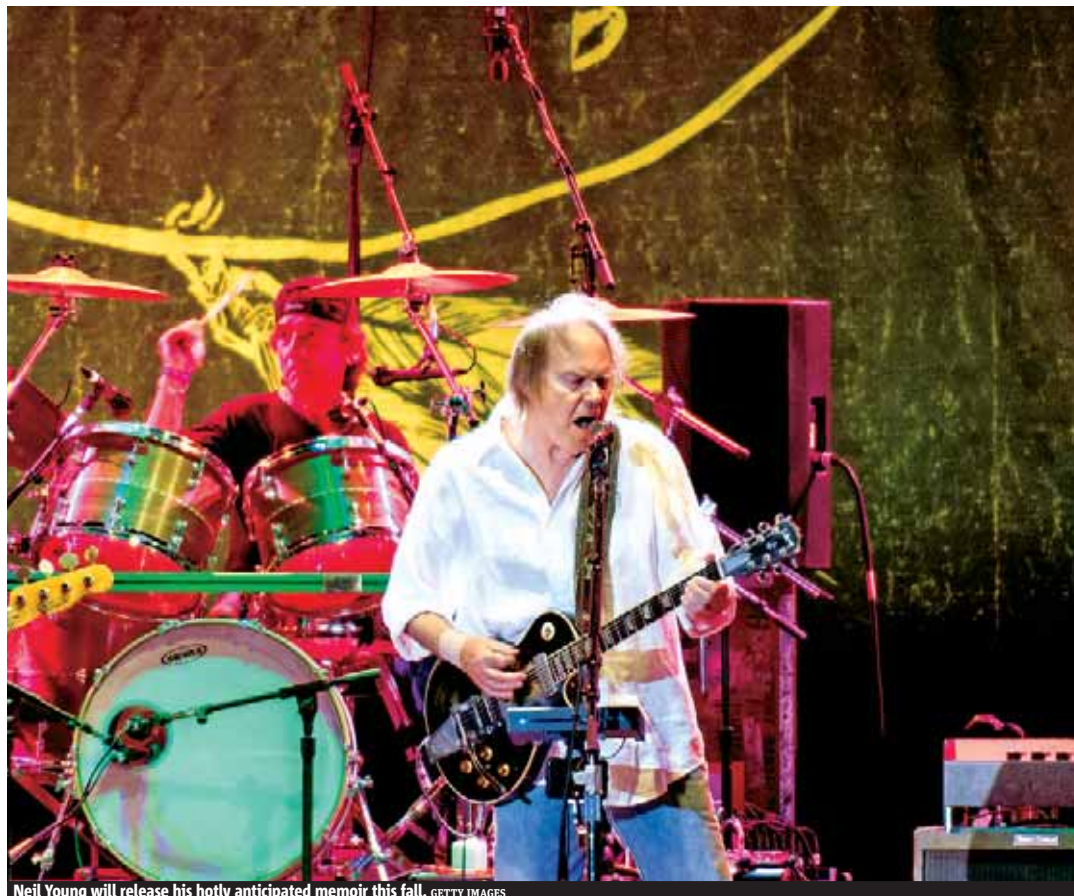

"It's honestly our strongest season maybe in the company history," says Beth Lockley, executive director of publicity and marketing for Penguin Group of Canada, which has the Young memoir, Waging Heavy Peace, and several other celebrity titles.

The fall season is crucial to the publishing industry here as book-buying picks up ahead of the Christmas season, notes Scott Sellers, vice-president and director of marketing strategy at Random House of Canada.

"That's why you get your big guns out, starting mid-to-late August, building momentum and attention for them through the fall, through awards seasons, heading into the month of December, when people are really in the stores in huge numbers looking to find books to read, books to give as gifts."

High-profile fiction books that hit shelves earlier this month include The Age of Hope (HarperCollins Canada) by Bergen, 2005 Giller winner for The Time in Between. The new story follows Hope Koop as she tries to find her identity in a small town outside Winnipeg.

Also available now is

Neil Young will release his hotly anticipated memoir this fall. GETTY IMAGES

The Tale-Teller (Cormorant Books), Susan Glickman's second novel after her acclaimed 2006 debut The Violin Lover. Set in a Quebec harbour in 1738, The Tale-Teller features a Jewish prisoner and is based on the true story of an obscure historical figure.

One of the most hotly anticipated fiction titles still to come is Munro's 13th collection of short stories, Dear Life (Douglas Gibson Books/McClelland & Stewart), due out in October. Set around Lake Huron, it highlights "how strange, dangerous, and extraordinary the ordinary life can be."

"Any time there's an Alice Munro I think it's a literary event, and I think this is going to be no exception," says Sellers, noting the spotlight-shunning literary star is expected to make a rare public appearance at the International Festival of Authors in October.

Vassanji — who, like Munro, has twice won the Scotiabank Giller Prize — will push out his new novel, The Magic of Saida (Doubleday Canada), in September. The story follows a Canadian doctor as he returns to his homeland of East Africa to find his childhood sweetheart.

Commonwealth Writers' Prize winner Shauna Singh Baldwin's The Selector of Souls (Knopf Canada) is due in September and is her first novel since her Giller-nominated The Tiger Claw in 2004.

"It's a really big, sweeping novel set against India on the brink of economic boom in the mid-'90s, and two women who are in a clash of faith and tradition to try and maintain the lives and dignity of young girls and women in their community," says Sellers. "It's quite something."

Also out in September is IMPAC Dublin Literary Award winner Ravi Hage's Carnival (House of Anansi Press), his latest novel since his 2008 Giller finalist Cockroach.

Laura Repas of House of Anansi Press calls Carnival a satirical, wild tale of "magical realism" that follows a taxi driver.

"I love it. I think it's his best work yet," she says. "It's got this wonderful combination of being this wild thing, this careening wild ride, but being very disciplined at the same time."

September will also see the release of Annabel Lyon's The Sweet Girl (Random House), the follow-up to her Writers' Trust Prize-winning 2009 novel The Golden Mean. While the first book took a fictional look at the life of Greek philosopher Aristotle, the new story does the same with his daughter, Pythias.

James Bond exhibit launches mission on Toronto

A toast to 007. With Martinis, memorabilia and film, impressive travelling exposition celebrates 50 years of the spy we love

Fifty years on, James Bond remains a movie juggernaut. While the protagonist, villains and gadgets may change, the appeal of 007 lingers.

The world of Bond is not timeless – the cutting edge of the car phone and pager in 1963's From Russia With Love has long since dulled – but 007's style has been a constant.

Bond cuts a suave figure, be it in a dinner jacket prowling a casino, or a ski outfit outracing a legion of no-name henchmen.

The exhibit Designing 007: 50 Years of Bond Style showcases Ian Fleming's creations on the 50th anniversary of Dr. No, the first of the Bond movies.

The show debuted in July at the Barbican in London, running through Sept. 6. In addition to the exhibition, the performing arts centre added to the Bond mood with a martini bar and Bond shop.

It comes to Toronto in the fall, with the TIFF Bell Lightbox hosting the first North American stop from Oct. 26 to Jan. 20, 2013.

The Toronto visit coincides with the release of Skyfall, the 23rd film in the Bond series. And Bond's contribution to the Olympic opening ceremonies, albeit in a supporting role to the Queen.

The exhibit is crammed with Bond trinkets, from Odd-job's hat (powered by an electric motor) and the original golden gun to Jaws' (actor Richard Kiel's) metal teeth.

While the array of knick-knacks and memorabilia will tickle Bond fans' fancy, ultimately the films themselves remain the star of this show. Video screens throughout the exhibit play loops from the movies, reminding viewers – among other things – just how many times Bond has set foot in a casino.

The delightful display also reveals intriguing facts about the Bond franchise.

- A dapper Dr.No. The late Terence Young, director of Dr. No, ordered actor Sean Connery to wear his stylish made-to-measure suits in his spare time
- Special effects. At the time, action scenes from 1977's The Spy Who Loved Me were the most expensive movie stunts in the history of Hollywood production, costing $500,000.

The Family Guy to host SNL

NBC says the man behind the cartoon comedy Family Guy will guest host the season's first Saturday Night Live. The network announced Wednesday that Seth MacFarlane will be presiding when SNL begins its 38th season Sept. 15. Musical guest will be Frank Ocean. The multi-talented MacFarlane created the Fox series Family Guy and serves as writer, producer and voice artist on the show. He recently directed his first feature film, Ted, and furnished the voice for its teddy-bear title character. Future guest hosts on SNL this fall include actors Joseph Gordon-Levitt and Daniel Craig. A love-starved football free agent tests the dating market on The Bachelor of Canada

Looking to score. A diverse group of single women hope to catch the eye of a former CFL commissioner's son in reality television series

A pastor, a Playboy model and a real estate agent nicknamed Bubba are among the single women who will vie for the attention of CFL wide receiver Brad Smith on The Bachelor Canada.

Citytv has so far announced five of 25 contestants for the upcoming reality show.

Rounding out the diverse list is an office administrator and a university recruitment agent. The bachelorettes announced so far hail from New Brunswick, Alberta, British Columbia and Ontario.

The nine-episode reality series is set to begin Oct. 3.

Hosted by Tyler Harcott, the show will take place in a Victoria mansion.

Smith has played for the Montreal Alouettes, Toronto Argonauts and the Edmonton Eskimos.

His father, Sen. Larry Smith, is a former CFL commissioner and former president and CEO of the Alouettes.

Cable TV star Kelly Osbourne prepares to meet fans at the launch of the Magnificent Mile Shopping Festival earlier this month in Chicago. SITHIRIXAY DITTHAVON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fierce fashionista, Kelly Osbourne offers tips for real women

Can we talk?. After teaming up with Joan Rivers on the show Fashion Police, daughter of '70s rocker Ozzy Osbourne hitting all the right notes

Kelly Osbourne was a reality star, actress and musician before anyone took notice that she had a knack for style.

But lately the 27-year-old daughter of Ozzy Osbourne, currently with violet hair after stints of pink, lilac and grey, has earned the title of certified fashionista.

She is a natural at dishing the designer dirt with Joan Rivers and co-hosts Giuliana Rancic and George Kotsiopoulos after major Hollywood red carpets on U.S.-based cable network's E! Entertainment Television's Fashion Police.

She also sat front row with Rivers at the Badgley Mischka show during the New York Fashion Week this past February.

"I'm in the process of branding, doing my own line. I will not just attach my name to something," Osbourne said. "I want to be a part of every aspect of it."

Now she's being tapped to kick off fashion-fueled events too, like this month's The Magnificent Mile Shopping Festival along Chicago's Michigan Avenue.

And for those who must know what Osbourne was wearing in Chicago to meet with reporters last week: A long, flowing short-sleeved black dress with a rainbow leaf print by Issa (a British label that Kate, Duchess of Cambridge, has helped popularize) and a ring with a large purple stone and a jeweled leaf by Chanel.

The Big Three in style

Kelly Osbourne kicked-off this month's Magnificent Mile Shopping Festival in Chicago and also offered some helpful fashion advice

- Tip 1: Spray Tans. They make you look slimmer and feel healthier....I hate that I don't have one now.
- Tip 2: Flatten that figure. Even if you're a skinny girl, shaping undergarments Spanx are a must.
- Tip 3: Pamper your feet. Always pack a pair of ballet flats in your handbag because by the end of the night your feet are killing you...Don't let footwear ruin your good time.

SEASONAL POLLEN ALLERGIES AND MILD ASTHMA?

MEMBERSHIP HAS ITS PRIVILEGES

ONE PARTY FOR ALL AS THE SHINS AND BLACK KEYS ROCK MOLSON AMPHITHEATRE

Music enthusiasts are like travellers. When we are young, we will go anywhere by bus, sleep in hostels, and drink beer from a convenience store. As we age, our outings grow fewer and shorter, and we prefer a more full experience.

The odds seemed slim as my buddy and I made our way to the Black Keys concert at the Molson Canadian Amphitheatre on a hot and humid Toronto Caribbean carnival weekend. Above Ontario Place hung a big, grey cloud that ironically resembled Bob Marley.

Dancing to the Black Keys.

First, we parked near Medieval Times, almost as if we thought the knights would protect my “chariot.” We headed out on foot opposite a carnival crowd moving toward us.

Somewhere en route, we daringly stopped at a street vendor for some jerk chicken, and I use the terms “vendor” and “chicken” loosely, but it was delicious. The people were friendly, many scantily clad (a good look, only on some), and the music was great.

Later, at the Amphitheatre, I discovered a secret when we ended up in front of the American Express Pavilion. Apparently, Amex cardholders are invited to hang out, enjoy a snack, have a drink, and mingle before, after, or between shows. I guess membership really does have its privileges.

Much has been said about the sound at outdoor venues, but if there were critics with sensitive ears, I couldn’t find them. Much to the contrary, everyone seemed to be focused on a moment they knew they would talk about for years to come.

The Shins opened the show with an awesome repertoire and received much love from the crowd, even during the short, torrential rain blast.

By the time the Keys went on, those sitting on the grass were literally lubricated, but completely undisturbed as they prepared for a rockin’ band. I looked around to see a huge crowd of happy, wet folks just dancing and getting along in collective appreciation for the music. For a couple of hours, there was peace among the masses. It was one party for all.

The night was capped off by a post-show performance from the Michael Rault band on the roof of the American Express Pavilion.

I can’t remember the last time I came home thoroughly satisfied from a night on the town. You gotta love T.O. in the summertime!

Lohan gets the boot from Chateau Marmont

THE WORD
Monica Weymouth
scene@metronews.ca

Lindsay Lohan almost had a good day yesterday. After it looked like she was all but headed back to jail for swiping $100,000 worth of jewelry at a house party, the L.A. County District Attorney decided not to prosecute her. Unfortunately, the Chateau Marmont — the swanky hotel she's called home since May — decided to kick her out.

In an eviction notice obtained by TMZ, general manager Philip Pavel takes issue with the $46,350 bill the actress has managed to rack up. "As we have made repeated attempts to resolve this pressing matter over the last few weeks without any resolution, I regret to inform you that we will no longer be able to extend any further credit for you to remain in the hotel," he writes.

Pavel goes on to add a little comedic flair: "I have adjusted off the daily $75 charge for computer rental for use of the hotel's laptop as a gesture of good faith, with the understanding that you will return the computer."

Also included with the letter is an itemized invoice of the charges, including $686 for cigarettes (to be fair, they were charging her $14 a pack) and $100 for a "Chateau Candle" — which we certainly hope is code for something much more exciting than a candle.

While Katie Holmes will reportedly be getting $4.8 million in child support payments until Suri Cruise turns 18, the little girl herself stands to fare much better from her parents' divorce, ac-

"Katie has absolutely no access to the money and didn't want to. ... But Suri won't be able to legally claim it until she is in her 30s."

STOP HAIR LOSS

Introducing the new BIO-FEN® PLUS for MEN and for WOMEN

Hair Grow Technology's Bio-Fen® product line is continually moving forward! We are introducing our two latest versions; Bio-Fen® Plus for Men and Bio-Fen® Plus for Women. These products have been assigned Natural Product Numbers (NPN's) by Health Canada.

We recognize that both men and women experience androgenic alopecia (AGA, or male / female pattern baldness) and have made some improvements to the original formulation based on the latest science to address their specific needs. You will notice that we now have additional complementary (Health Canada Approved) health claims on each product.

How does Bio-Fen® PLUS work?

We are bringing you two new products with double the number of capsules and triple the number of health claims for men and four times the number of health claims for women.

As in the previous formulation, the fenugreek seed extract in both new formulas reduces excess blood lipid levels (hyperlipidemia). Fenugreek contains β -sitosterol, an active plant sterol, which has been shown to inhibit 5-alpha-reductase activity – the enzyme responsible for converting excess testosterone to DHT (which is the primary molecule that causes hair loss). The SDG (secoisolariciresinol diglucoside) from flax lignans in both formulas also decreases excess cholesterol – the building block of testosterone. Based on new research on the rate of metabolism of SDG in flax lignans (8-12 hours on average), the dosage in both products has been revised from once a day to twice a day for optimum results.

Twice the Strength!
Twice the Power!

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men:

As before, the saw palmetto extract inhibits the enzyme 5-alpha reductase, and this action slows down the conversion of testosterone to dihydrotestosterone (or DHT) – the overabundance of which causes the miniaturization of hair follicles. This activity of the saw palmetto also helps to relieve the urinary symptoms of mild to moderate BPH for men.

The saw palmetto that originally was an extract standardized to 45% free fatty acids, esters, and sterols while the new formula is a 4:1 extract to support the BPH claim. The product still contains these molecules for hair loss, but they are now at proprietary amounts based on our research so that the competition cannot duplicate our formula.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men will also help to:

- Relieve the urologic symptoms associated with mild to moderate benign prostatic hyperplasia - BPH (e.g. weak urine flow, incomplete voiding, frequent daytime and night time urination).
- Reduce elevated blood lipid levels / hyperlipidemia.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Women

The women's formula is almost the same as the men's formula. The mechanisms and results for the women formula is the same. The only difference is it contains silicon and iron instead of saw palmetto. Silicon has been shown to contribute to hair shaft strength and thus healthy hair growth. It also contains iron which helps prevent iron deficiency. A number of studies have related sub-clinical iron deficiency in women to diffuse hair loss/alopecia.

The increased amount of SDG and other revisions to the regulations allow us to make some additional health claims for Bio-Fen® Plus for Women.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Women will also help to:

- Reduce elevated blood lipid levels/hyperlipidemia
- Prevent iron deficiency.
- Metabolize carbohydrates, fats and proteins.

How long must I use Bio-Fen® Plus?

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men capsules are usually effective at stopping hair loss within the first two months. However, since healthy hair grows only about 1 cm each month, it may take up to three months before you notice that hair growth is increased or the rate of hair loss is decreased. Anyone experiencing new growth should see it within four months. In some people the original pigmentation may come back. Once you stop completely your hair growth pattern will slowly go back to the point where you started. However, some people may be able to go with a lower maintenance dose.

What is the quality of Bio-Fen® Plus for Men?

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men is manufactured in Canada according to quality assurance specifications called Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP). This ensures that the ingredients are tested for their level of quality, potency & purity, prior to production and the finished product prior to sale.

Hair Grow Technology (Bio-Fen® Plus) is a progressive company - we continually seek out the latest research on bioactive ingredients, and on regulatory updates in the natural health products industry.

See our website to locate your nearest store that carries Bio-Fen® Plus.

If you go down to the shops today, you're in for a big surprise. No, not a teddy bears' picnic but a menagerie of critter-inspired clothing. Perhaps the catty industry wanted to show that it's got a cuddly side, or maybe designers were hoping to cash-in on the cutesy AWW factor. But whatever the reason, it's time to snare some of this season's game.

Start spreading the news. Canadian designers to take bite out of Big Apple at this fall's fashion week

Two Canadian labels are heading to the Big Apple as part of a special fashion showcase for emerging talents.

Fashion Week.

Marking its 14th year, the event is slated to take place on Sept. 9 at Runway at Pier 57 in Manhattan, and will feature spring 2013 collections in both men's and women's ready-to-wear.

The program has been a showcase for other up-and-coming designers who now are among the top names in the industry.

Rodarte, Zac Posen, Philip Lim and Vena Cava are among those on the roster of past participants who debuted their very first runway shows at the event.

The budding Canadian labels taking part in this year's showcase have established a presence in the homegrown design scene with their own dedicated runway presentations staged during Toronto Fashion Week.

DO 'TIME' WITH ALPACAS THIS LABOUR DAY

This summer's last long weekend is fast upon us, and you need a family escape where the kids may actually forget that school starts next week.

The short drive to Lindsay in Kawartha Lakes brings you to the Olde Gaol Museum. Be sure to call ahead to book your tour (1-866-747-2010). The displays are housed in the actual cells. Get a photo of the kids behind bars — that should get them to behave for the rest of the weekend!

No visit to the Kawarthas is complete without a dip in one of the many gorgeous lakes. Balsam Lake Provincial Park offers a beach, playground, picnic area and lookout tower. You can also rent canoes, kayaks or pedal boats onsite.

The two-hour boat ride on the Kawartha Spirit from Fenelon Falls cruises through the highest chamber lock on the Trent-Severn Waterway, past the falls, limestone gorge and into beautiful Sturgeon Lake. Great photo opps abound!

Kawartha Settlers' Village near Bobcaygeon brings to life the pioneer experience between 1830 and 1935. The old schoolhouse will especially enthrall the youngsters.

Just past Little Britain, Salem Alpacas is all about cute. The kids will love getting close to these adorable, mild-mannered animals, while you will love the handmade duvets and other products made with non-allergenic and soft-as-cashmere alpaca yarn.

Sentence your kids to a weekend of fun in the land of 1,000 perfect getaways — Peterborough, Kawartha Lakes and Northumberland.

After only one visit, we're sure that "Our Favourite Place" will become your favourite place.

Peepers of the past

Take your eyes back in time. Chunkier frames,
bright hues, retro
styles in specs for fallFrom ray-shielding shades to prescription pairs, the eyes truly have it when it comes to framing faces in stylish specs.Sherry Pounds, vice-president of product for Lens-Crafters, said this fall will mark a throwback to classic styles of the '20s, '50s and
'80s."What is old is new again,"
she said from Mason, Ohio. "You can think like flapper, Great Gatsby, Marilyn Monroe, kind of MTV and personal computers. And really, what is happening is with the popularity of television shows and movies that are being created in past decades, retro styles are making a comeback this season."Pounds said eyewear collections are showing a trend in round glasses. But she also noted the sleek cat eye —
sporting by screen and style icons like Brigitte Bardot and the late Audrey Hepburn — has also made a major resurgence and quickly become a classic style for optical wearers.Amin Mamdani, vice-president of operations and
buyer for Josephson Opticians in Toronto, said retro styles are among those translating from adult eyewear to 'Mini-Me' frames for the younger crowd — albeit with a fresh twist."You are seeing a lot of the wayfarer kind of look which is the chunkier plastics, but with colour," he said. "So there's a lot of tone-on-tone, there's a lot of two-tone; so you've got a complimentary colour and you've got something that's a contrast colour.""With kids, you can actually have lime-green, blues,
reds, and let them have fun,
because (those are) the

retro styles are making a comeback this season."Sherry Pounds, Vice-president of product for LensCrafterscolours they wear a lot of,
rather than just being solids and being safe."Mamdani said styles for kids' eyewear tend to veer more towards chunky rather than fine frames in a downsized version of adult looks that are better suited to smaller-sized faces."A lot of colours, a lot of textures, more plastic than we've ever seen before in the past; so a lot of the chunkier

New frames on the block

Cool looks for your little oneSix-year-old Justin Reuben and his mother, Lesley, stopped by Josephson Opticians to pick up yet another new pair — the fourth since Justin started wearing glasses about two years ago."I find now that kids' glasses look like adult glasses. They're funkier. I definitely see a change in the styles," she said.

Despite a high prescription and thick lenses, Reuben said the latest incarnations of frames allows Justin to sport a small pair that are lightweight and easy to manage. While he has started to outgrow a pre-existing pair of circular, black frames, she said he still has others to choose from to help sharpen his vision — and even make a bespectacled style
statement.which we see a lot in adult frames."The proliferation of bright colours has been a signature story in fashion and home decor this year, and the infusion of hues is leaving a bold mark on frames.Mamdani said many of the sunglasses available today are acetate or plastic frames,with kids' varieties in orange, red, blue, green and white for the season.Pounds said patterns are becoming more prevalent with a nod toward animal print. Splashes of colour are also adorning the inside of glasses as well as the front and temple areas, she noted.

You've been framed!

Whether you're opting for thick-rimmed plastic or thin, wiry or metal, your fashionable frames will be of little benefit if the fit isn't right.Amin Mamdani, vice-president of operations and
buyer for Josephson Opticians in Toronto, shares his rules of thumb for assuring individuals select specs that are stylish, comfortable and flatter the face.

Fit test

A lot of the times, frames can be adjusted to fit better, but Mamdani said much stems from how you feel when you put them on.

He suggests selecting a pair

portant part of the frame and if it fits very well there, then you will find the most comfortable (pair) and they won't slip as

Framing your face

Mamdani said there isn't one particular standout style that is necessarily best-suited towards kids — it's dependent on the shape of their faces."Because we're talking about a lot smaller of a face, chunkier frames can be heavy or overpowering on some kids.
So I think it's ideal to select a few styles, go to a plastic frame, try it on, try a metal frame, see

Just face it

Mamdani said the aim in selecting a suitable pair of specs is to create the perfect oval-shaped face

- If your face is round, opt for the opposite shape which is to try to find something that is more rectangular.
- If your face is very long, try to shorten it with frames that have more roundedness from the bottom and is not so squared off.

Junk food, without the junk

ROMINA
MCGUINNESS
Metro World News

"When it comes to food, it's either eating something that's healthy but without taste, or delicious and bad for us," nutritional therapist Jessica Bourke, author of the cookbook Guilt Free Gourmet, tells Metro, calling that a myth. "We need food to stay alive, but we also need to enjoy it."

She suggests avoiding dairy, sugar and wheat, and has devised recipes to eat well without them.

Dairy

Why you should cut it out

1 It's high in fat, which can cause weight gain.

2 That it's the best source of calcium is a myth. A green smoothie contains just as much calcium as a glass of milk.

3 Cow's milk contains the protein casein, needed to build the big bones of baby calves, not humans. Our body doesn't know what to do with the excess. It also prohibits the absorption of key nutrients including iron and vitamin B12.

Top alternative: Soy. Great for our gut. For women, it's good for their hormones. Go for miso soup, tempeh or tofu.

Sugar

Why you should cut it out

1 It encourages bad bacteria to grow in the gut, which can cause IBS (irritable bowel syndrome). In time, this can exteriorize itself on our skin and lead to conditions such as acne and eczema.

2 It causes chronic fatigue. Processed sugar has a damping down effect on the immune system. Two hours after ingestion, immune cell capacity is reduced by 50 per cent.

3 Processed sugar triggers a blood sugar imbalance that will eventually make you prone to weight gain and hormone problems.

Top alternative: Xylitol. It may sound chemical, but this natural sweetener is derived from the bark of a tree.

Wheat

Why you should cut it out

1 White bread contains calcium carbonate. In other words, chalk.

2 Gluten, a protein found in wheat, can attack and damage the gut cells. This can lead to a condition known as leaky gut syndrome whereby the intestinal lining becomes inflamed.

3 If our immune cells confuse gluten with a pathogen (an agent of disease) the body will attack itself.

Top alternative: Quinoa. Technically a seed, quinoa actually looks and tastes like a grain. Naturally gluten free, it doesn't cause bloating and contains essential amino acids. A bowl will curb your appetite for a while.

Recipe. Gluten, sugar and dairy free Polenta Pizza

1 Bring 1 litre of water to the boil and add the bouillon powder. Reduce the heat and slowly pour in the polenta whisking all the time until blended. Reduce the heat to its lowest setting add half the lemon zest and juice, 4 of the crushed garlic cloves, the thyme and a good pinch of salt and pepper and gently cook, stirring occasionally for about 45 minutes or until the polenta pulls away from the side of the pan and is very thick.

2 Meanwhile, bring another pan of water to the boil. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and boil the chard for about 3-4 minutes until the thick part is just tender. Remove, drain and season with some salt and oil (don't forget to stir the polenta). Heat two tablespoons of oil in another pan over high heat. Fry the mushrooms for about two minutes. Add 1 of the crushed garlic cloves and stir for 30 seconds to release the garlic flavour. Transfer to a bowl, toss with the parsley and season with salt, the remaining lemon zest and juice and some olive oil. When the polenta is ready, transfer to baking sheet and spread out to a thickness of about 2 cm. Cool for 30 min.

3 Preheat the grill. Scatter mushrooms and chard on

Ingredients

Serves 6
Cooking time: 1 hr 30 min (approx)

- 2 teaspoons of bouillon stock powder
- 200 g polenta
- Grated zest and juice of 1 lemon
- 6 garlic cloves, crushed sea salt and ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon fresh thyme leaves
- 1 head of Swiss chard
- Extra virgin olive oil
- 200 g girolle mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon freshly chopped parsley
- 1 egg
- Bunch of fresh marjoram

polenta. Crack an egg in the middle and grill until egg is cooked. Pull leaves off the marjoram stalks and chop finely. Mix with the last crushed garlic clove and mix with oil to form a loose marjoram oil. Remove the polenta from the grill, and drizzle with the oil.

Trending topics: High-rise amenities

BRYAN TUCKEY
President and CEO of the Building Industry and Land Development Association (BILD) can be found at twitter.com/bildgta, facebook.com/bildgta, and bildblogs.ca.

With increasing demand in the high-rise market, condo developers have taken amenities to a whole new level in recent years. A 24-hour concierge, swimming pool and fitness centre have all become basic expectations as opposed to luxuries in today's condominiums.

To set a building apart from the rest, our members occupy themselves with creating the most unique in condo conveniences to maximize its appeal.

New condominium residents in the GTA can now enjoy a movie on a large, theatre-sized screen, conveniently available in their building's theatre room. Those who prefer something a bit more active can play 18 holes of golf or practice their slapshot in a virtual games room — equipped with a touch-sensitive screen, multiple sensors and a computer that tells you exactly why your drive sent the ball into the virtual bushes.

A few years back, we witnessed the popularity of spas in the list of amenities, but a popular new trend is to offer the service to pets. That's right, today there are several condo projects offering fully-equipped pet spas. These areas are used for washing and grooming, and are a welcome change for dog owners who sometimes face strong "no pets" policies in their buildings.

With the GTA's market shifting towards high-rise living, pet-themed amenities help reinforce the notion that you don't need to compromise your lifestyle when you live in a condo.

This is particularly true when you look at the latest in amenity trends — the retail space. More and more condominium towers are incorporating grocery stores, coffee shops and dry cleaners into their façade to maximize the convenience of high-rise living. With location being an important factor in the purchasing decision, developers now bring the area amenities to you so you can spend more time doing whatever you want.

Other popular amenities today include bicycle storage rooms for the cycling enthusiasts, wi-fi connectivity in meeting rooms for small business owners, and rooftop gardens for an experience that makes you forget all about the lack of a backyard.

Condominium living has become more and more prominent for new home buyers in the GTA, and our members are always working hard to bring innovative products into the marketplace. That's just another advantage of buying a brand new home!

Street level shopping: Does your condo have all the amenities?

Trends. The type of shopping and services located in a condo will affect its allure

DUNCAN
life@metronews.ca

With the many new condo developments in the GTA, it's important to look for good shopping and services close by, and the availability of retail amenities at the base of your building can have a positive impact on the value of your unit.

It's surprising how many new developments are lacking in the way of facilities at street level when the buildings are finally completed.

Although builders and realtors may promise you that amenities are soon to follow,

Quoted

"We do put in various restrictive covenants to make sure that it's not businesses that people wouldn't like..."

Brad Carr, president of Monarch Group

it could be months if not years before residents have simple services such as a grocery or convenience store nearby.

Bazi's International new E Condo at Yonge and Eglinton is a great example of well-planned retail.

The building will feature an underground shopping concourse that connects with the Eglinton subway station with high-end retail venues at its base.

It's being developed in cooperation with RioCan, Canada's largest retail real estate firm, which operates the Yonge Eglinton centre across the street.

Brad Carr, the president of Monarch Group, explains that they manage retail services in their buildings much the same as regular condo owners.

"Basically it's a building-by-building analysis and it goes to what the zoning and the planning desires for the area are. We put the required amount of commercial in each building and then, in the same way that we sell our residential units to end-users, we then in turn sell the commercial condos to end-users."

The type of businesses located in a condo building will affect its allure.

A popular restaurant with a well-known chef will draw a different type of clientele than say, a dollar store, and builders are selective about what type of businesses they allow in their buildings.

"We do put in various restrictive covenants to make sure that it's not businesses that people wouldn't like, but we're really willing to let the commercial follow the needs of the local area," says Carr.

"We guide the uses that can be included in the buildings but we don't restrict them right down to this will be a restaurant, this will be a veterinary clinic, this will be a medical centre. We have a wide range of what we feel are acceptable uses that we will sell to someone who is going to operate those, and then we have a list of things that we also wouldn't like to see in this building and those are prohibited."

The very best fall/winter trends at New York International Gift Fair

Design centre. These home and gift products will soon be on the store shelves for your purchasing pleasure

DESIGN CENTRE
Karl Lohnes
home@metronews.ca

Twice each year the Javits Center in New York City is packed with the latest and greatest in lamps, rugs, salad bowls and more as the New York International Gift Fair displays housewares to thousands of retail store buyers.

I took a peek around this trade-only event and checked out the latest buys being offered up to retailers for the fall/winter season.

Here's three of the biggest trends.

Seventies Marrakech

The geometrics of the 1970's took a sophisticated turn this season by incorporating richer trend colours that resembled patterns often found in Moroccan textiles, rugs and ceramics. Zig-zag, fish scales and tile work were three hot looks, and famed designer Jonathan Adler nailed all three looks with his Carnaby collection of lamps, trays and mugs. Carnaby Large Flame, Scale and Taletha lamps, $340 each. micasatoronto.com.

Feeling blue

One of the old-time decorator classics has been given resurgence in the contemporary world and many hip exhibitors were showing products that resembled blue-and-white porcelain. This colour combination looks great with neutrals and can hold its own against strong bursts of colour. Seletti's Sextuple playfully extends the porcelain plate into useful wall art or a tray. $1,200. mintinteriors.ca.

Linen with sparkle

Natural linen was everywhere at the show; on furniture upholstery, pillows, bedding and tabletop linens. Threads of metallic, shiny trims and adornments helped to decorate this rather plain, humble fabric. The most outstanding use of linen were companies like Ann Gish (maker of high-end luxurious bedding) who incorporated a hand-painted look of shimmer or sparkle into the linen. 'Gorgeous' bedding by Ann Gish, from $400 to 1,800. anngish.com.

An investment that's right as rain

Where can I get a rain barrel?
-Brent of Victoria

QUEEN OF GREEN
Lindsay Coulter
green@metronews.ca

Rain barrels can be purchased from your local hardware or garden store. In fact, the Capital Regional District's website has a complete list of rain barrel retailers in the Victoria, B.C., area under the Water Services section. You can also search the classifieds, in print or online!

It's a worthy investment. They can cost over $250, depending on the size and manufacturer.

Price also depends on the added bells and whistles, such as filtering systems, spigots and mosquito-proofing measures.

But before you buy, check to see if your city offers a subsidy or distributes rain barrels to residents.

Did you know that more than 40 per cent of residential treated drinking water is used to water lawns and gardens?

Collect rain water on your property to reduce the waste of potable water, especially during the drier summer months.

Benefits of rain barrels

- Rainwater harvesting can reduce storm drainage load, including reducing the chance of basement flooding.
- Direct water away from your home's foundation.
- Provide naturally softened and chlorine-free water — excellent for delicate houseplants, cleaning the car and window-washing.

- Reduce your water bill.

Additional tips

- Select a rain barrel size that will hold most of the rain that comes off your roof. You may need to buy one for each downspout to be sure.
- Install the rain barrel on a level surface (it can weigh up to 545 kilograms when full), even elevating it with paving stones to take advantage of a gravity feed.

- Make your barrel mosquito-proof by adding a lid to it.
- Maintain your system by clearing roofs and rain gutters of debris, cleaning any screens in the tank, and occasionally removing the sediment by draining and cleaning the tank.
- Don't drink the water!

Mortgages

Financing a second property is a complex matter

I am considering purchasing a second property as an investment but I am confused about financing (a mortgage) and also declaring my principal residence for tax purposes.

What are the rules around this?

LEGAL MATTERS
Jeffrey Cowan
home@metronews.ca

You should be engaging an accountant with respect to the tax issues and talk to your banker about the mortgage issues. However, I can give you some general information.

In Canada, you can only declare one property as your principal residence for capital gains tax purposes.

This means that if you have two properties, one of them will be subject to capital gains tax when you sell it; for the amount that you have increased in the value of the property.

This effectively amounts to 25 per cent of the increase in the value, and you need to pay this tax the following year you disposed of the property on your tax return.

Financing a second property is a much more complex matter.

There are new mortgage rules set in place by the federal government concerning mortgage fund ratios to investment and also the bank concerns about a property that will not be owner occupied.

You should consult your financial institution before you consider purchasing a second property because you may find that they are not open to financing a second property for you even if you have a spotless credit rating.

When water is scarce, herbs are your natural landscaping tools

Xeriscaping. Herbs are a good choice in high, hot sun, drought, or other problem settings

Cacti or succulents are the usual go-to plants when xeriscaping, or dry-land gardening, but herbs are an attractive alternative.

Many herbs have Mediterranean origins, and can grow well where the soil is sandy and water is scarce.

"All plants need water, but that varies with the variety and the setting," said Debbie Boutelier, president of The Herb Society of America. "Herbs are a good choice if you're experiencing a drought, have high, hot sun or problem settings."

Such problem areas might include boulevards, driveway strips, slopes or bare spots that have been baked into lawns.

The best results when xeriscaping with herbs come when using native plants, or plants that have adapted well to a particular area, Boutelier said. "Natives handle climatic change better than something you have to force," she said. "Planting correctly is the first rule."

Mulching or adding compost runs a close second.

"Having plants in the right place and doing cultural things that help preserve moisture, like mulch, will provide so many benefits," said Dennis Patton, a Kansas State University Research and Extension agent. "Soaker hoses and drip irrigation also have a place in the landscape. They can put water at the base of the plants where it's needed."

Xeriscaping is a practical way to garden no matter where you live, from the desert Southwest to the Canadian highlands and even Hawaii.

"More and more people are looking for lower maintenance in their gardens," Patton said. "That means less watering," and finding plants that can thrive that way but still have some foliage. "We're not talking yucca here. This is where herbs come in. They're used to dry climates and give off splashes of colour while providing other advantages."

Herbs are great all-around plants, Boutelier said: "One plant can give you a lot of purposes — culinary, ornamental, medicinal, ground cover."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Other drought-resistant herbs to consider

- Fennel is a perennial with leaves and seeds used for flavouring. "It's also good for attracting butterflies," Patton said.
- Taller herb varieties that pack a lot of colour would include phlomis (Jerusalem sage) and evening primrose, but the latter should be potted to contain its growth.
- Mint, if confined to containers, bee balm and angelica require little in the way of water, fertilizer or herbicides.

Thyme thrives in this walkway.

Cleaning the soap spots

Do you have any idea on how to remove soap build-up around the faucet on a marble bathroom countertop/sink? I use baking soda to clean my bathroom and a little bit of bleach once a month to disinfect. I would really appreciate your solution. Keep up the good work! Sincerely, The lady of the house

Other alternatives would be making a paste of baking soda and water the consistency of toothpaste. This will give you a little abrasion, but please do this softly and gently as not to scratch the marble or hardware. If neither of these methods work, try using Pine-sol original.

Computers and tablets. Top selections to stay on top of your studies this school year

MIKE YAWNEY
For Metro

Computers and tablets are quickly replacing pens and paper in the classroom. In fact, some schools are now making them a requirement. Here are some of the best picks for your student heading back to class.

Samsung Series 9 Ultrabook — $1,499

Samsung's Series 9 ultrabook is designed to impress. This new breed of laptop sports a beautiful sandblasted aluminum finish and is only 0.6 inches thick. You will never miss taking notes at the start of a lecture again as it holds the record for the fastest start-up time of any laptop at just 8.4 seconds.

MacBook Air — $1,029 and up

Backpacks are heavy enough without weighing them down with a hefty laptop. Apple's MacBook Air lives up to its name as it weighs only 2.38 pounds. Next-generation Flash storage means there are no moving parts so your laptop remains quiet while in class. The MacBook Air also features a Thunderbolt port along with two USB 3 ports to ensure ultra-fast data transfers.

Nexus 7 Tablet — $209 and up

When it comes to tablets, cheaper isn't always better, but somehow Google has managed to create a high-performance device that's easy on the wallet. This tablet, co-developed with Asus, features a Tegra 3 quad-core processor that results in incredible performance. The Nexus 7 has a seven-inch screen so you can easily hold it with one hand. You will also have tens of thousands of apps to choose from through Google Play.

Asus Transformer Pad — $369

Designed for those who aren't completely sold on the idea of a touchscreen tablet. This HD tablet can be snapped into an optional keyboard dock, turning it into a laptop. The top-notch quad-core processor ensures quality performance while providing a stellar 15-hour battery.

Apple iPad — $519 and up

You can't deny the clarity of the new iPad's Retina display. With one million more pixels than your HDTV, text is book. With more and more educational institutes making courses available through iTunes U, the iPad is an easy choice for students looking for a premium tablet.

HP Omni 27 — $1,299

All-in-one computers are quickly becoming the popular choice since they take up less space than traditional tower style computers. The HP Omni features a whopping 27-inch screen that can be wall mounted to give you more space on your desk. The wireless keyboard and mouse keep your

All your supply needs

ASTRID VAN DEN BROEK
For Metro

It's so easy to get caught up in back to school shopping, isn't it?

As Toronto-based Walmart Canada's Back to School Pulse Check report discovered, nearly 52 per cent of respondents noted they make multiple trips to multiple stores to shop for supplies and spend an average $190 per child.

So, what do you need to know for back to school shopping this fall? Metro asked some larger retailers to fill us in on top trends for kids and parents to stock up for school.

Licensing Is Hot

Think Angry Birds, boy band One Direction, Hello Kitty and superheroes of many colours feature prominently on a variety of school items. "Licenses are popular across the board from pencil cases to lunch bags to backpacks," says Carmelo Ragusa, senior category manager, stationary for Walmart Canada.

Personalized Is Popular

Whether it's buying pre-personalized items with their names on them or putting their stamp on their binders, kids want to leave their mark on their school supplies. "One trend we're seeing emerge is customization and personalization — so being able to doodle on your binder," says Ragusa. "There are binders out there right now that are doing really well where kids can do their own artwork on their binders with their own names and pictures."

ronto-based Staples Canada, notes one of its popular sellers includes The Kit from Dudley, which features a dry erase marker and board, calendar, mirror, cork board with thumb tacks and a Dudley combination lock. This year retailers are packaging kits and deals that include a matching backpack, lunch bag, pencil case and sometimes even water bottle.

Don't Forget Tech Accessories

For older students, tech accessories are fun as well — think USB keys with characters such as the Simpsons or Family Guy, or ear buds to listen to music while doing homework over lunch. Grebenc notes that ear buds are also having fun with design — Crayola's ear buds, for instance, look like a broken crayon is going through the wearer's head.

Watch For The Jungle

Jungle and animal prints continue to be popular on brightly coloured cases and binders — think zebra and other animal prints.

Bold patterns and prints are right fit

Young fashion. Three clothing trends for kids 12 and younger to wear back to school

ORFORD
For Metro

Alongside that new box of felt pens and crisp new stationery, new clothing in bold patterns and prints will inspire kids 12 and younger to start the school year, according to Karen Richter, showroom manager for H&M Canada.

H&M's line for kids is an adaptation of what the Swedish clothing giant is doing for adult clothing this fall, she explained.

"There is a tendency for many adult fashion trends to trickle down into the kid's collection," she said.

"There are often many mini-me pieces in our kids collection."

At the same time, H&M's kids' offerings alter the adult fashion trends by amping up the colours and patterns and incorporating fun textures like corduroy, velvet and faux fur.

Here are three trends H&M

Left, jacket, $34.95; right, sweater, $17.95, skirt, $19.95, and beret, $14.95, all available at H&M, hm.com/ca/. H&M PHOTO is doing this fall for the young-er-than-12 set.

Anglomania

The Anglomania trend is clean and sharp, giving off a put-together feel with a hint of English eccentricity.

For girls, this means mixing and matching checks, florals and stripes. Knits are also essential. Cable and Fair Isle-patterned knits add colour and texture, and look best in

Left, cardigan, $24.95, shirt, $12.95, trousers, $24.95; middle, cardigan, $24.95, trousers, $17.95, cap, $7.95; right, polo shirt, $12.95, denim trousers $19.95, all available at H&M, hm.com/ca/. H&M PHOTO

British tomboy style — worn with a roomy fit.

Boys' clothing encourages similar mixing and matching with bold argyle pieces, checks, block stripes and prints such as dots or skulls.

Mixing prints and pairing unexpected colours is key.

Preppy Style

Prep is clean and classic. It never really goes out of style and provides neutrals to pair with bolder pieces. This fall's staples include blazers, chinos and collared shirts. Stripes and vintage-style prints lend a nautical feel to both boys' and girls' pieces.

The Wilderness

This is a more casual, on-trend look. Girls' clothing takes inspiration from the Wild West, folklore and Santa Fe, incorporating colourful, geometric prints that reference traditional Native American blankets. Include heavy knits for a rustic edge, and bold colours to modernize the look.

Boys' clothing takes the trend in a slightly different direction, using sporty details to give a feeling of outdoor adventure. As with the girls' version of this trend, colours of nature are mixed with bold, artificial brights.

As the mercury falls, a good coat and other cover-ups will become essential. Wrap up and stay warm in lots of easy layers of wool, corduroy and fleece.

"It's important to parents that kids' clothes are affordable, functional, comfortable, and easy to co-ordinate, but still fun and fashionable to keep children happy," Richter explained.

Healthy stomach leads to healthy mind

Fresh lunch ideas means your child will probably eat what you give them, rather than throwing it away or trading it with other students. HEMERA/THINKSTOCK

VAN DEN BROEK
For Metro

What to pack for lunches this school year? If your child keeps coming home with containers full of sandwiches, maybe it's time to switch things up.

Lianne Phillipson-Webb, a registered nutritionist and founder of Toronto-based SproutRight, shares her fresh lunch ideas.

Think Outside The Sandwich

"Even if it's a wrap or filling a pita, you want to have balance in what you pack between carbs and protein so your child has energy during the day," says Phillipson-Webb.

"So you could fill with tuna, egg or meat. To keep it from going soggy, if you thinly spread butter or mayonnaise it acts as a barrier."

Play With Your Fillings

Combine two sure-fire kid-friendly foods such as grated cheese and grapes. Or Tahini (sesame seed butter — check with your school first to see if it's allowed) and a banana inside the wrap.

Try A Different Wrap

Steal a page from fresh spring rolls and try rice paper wraps. "You just have to make the paper wet and fill it with vegetables, tofu, avocado, mango, pineapple, noodles — whatever you like," she says.

Or Try A Brand New Filling

Such as pressed cottage cheese.

"It has more protein than a cream cheese and if you want to sweeten it up, you could spread a fruit jam on it," she says.

Look for it in the dairy cooler in the supermarket.

No need to throw out that lunch bag anymore

Forget the brown paper bag. Today's bags focus on being reusable and washable. Here's what's hot in lunch bags.

Matchy-matchy:

Many retailers are pairing lunch bags with backpacks, both featuring the same design.

Bright and colourful:

Hot colours in lunch bags include hot pinks, oranges, yellows and blues for girls and bright reds and blues for boys.

Going old school:

Not all lunch bags are of the zip-top, insulated interior kind. Metal flip-top lunch boxes featuring superheroes such as Superman and Batman are also popular.

Grown-up lunch boxes:

"For the more mature students we have Elle lunch bags that come in a wide variety of colours and sizes and they look almost like a small carrying bag," says Steve Grebenc, a general manager for a west-end Toronto-based Staples Canada. "Some of them come with utensils as well. And for patterns, stripes are popular and prints such as circles and squares on them."

Lunch bags, $9.97 each, available at Walmart, walmart.ca.

Minnesota easy choice for all-star game, says Selig

The competition among cities for baseball's All-Star game has grown stiffer over the years, leading to some tough calls for Commissioner Bud Selig.

Awarding the 2014 game to the Minnesota Twins and Target Field, it turns out, was one of the easier decisions Selig has made.

"This is the right thing to do and this is the right place to do it," Selig said Wednesday in making the official announcement.

Armstrong refers to self as 7-time Tour champ

Lance Armstrong introduced himself as a seven-time Tour de France champion at a cancer conference in Montreal on Wednesday.

"My name is Lance Armstrong. I am a cancer survivor," he said to open his speech to the World Cancer Congress. "I'm a father of five. And yes, I won the Tour de France seven times."

Armstrong announced last week he would no longer challenge the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency's drug charges against him. USADA threw out his competitive victories dating to 1998, which would include all seven Tour wins.

Recharged Escobar powers Jays to win

MLB. Shortstop has been hitting well since birth of child. By beating Yankees, Toronto gets first series win since July Yunel Escobar got a much-needed break last week when he took three days off for the birth of his child. It's made all the difference.

Escobar hit a two-run homer, three doubles and drove in five runs as Toronto beat the New York Yankees 8-5 Wednesday, ending CC Sabathia's five years of dominance over the Blue Jays.

The light-hitting shortstop went 15 games without getting more than a single before he went on the paternity list. In the four games back he has six for extra bases.

"At the time of the birth he was a little frustrated with how he was performing but that three-day break allowed him to relax and come back with a more positive mindset," injured slugger Jose Bautista said,

Escobar had a go-ahead RBI double in the third. His homer against Sabathia in the sixth gave the Blue Jays the lead again and his two-run double off Joba Chamberlain in the ninth helped secure Toronto's first series win since July 27-29. The five RBIs matched a career high for Escobar.

J.A. Happ (3-1) overcame a season-high five walks, including an intentional pass of Derek Jeter to load the bases with one out in the fourth inning, for the Blue Jays' second win in 10 games.

"He feels like anything positive that happens to the club is going to be welcome right now," Escobar said. "He feels like winning

Clijsters bids farewell after loss at U.S. Open

Kim Clijsters' singles career ended where she wanted it to, just not the way she hoped.

The four-time Grand Slam champion lost 7-6 (4), 7-6 (5) to 18-year-old Laura Robson of Britain in the second round of the U.S. Open on Wednesday, and will head into retirement after she finishes playing in doubles at Flushing Meadows.

Clijsters walked away from the sport once before, returning after a 2 1/2-year hiatus in 2009. But now 29 and a mother, the Belgian insisted this season that she means it this time, and decided the U.S. Open — and its hard courts that she conquered on the way to three championships — would be her final tournament.

"It's the place that has inspired me so much to do well and to do great things. It's hard to explain sometimes why," Clijsters said in an on-court interview, her face flushed and her eyes welling with tears.

"This completely feels like the perfect place to retire," Clijsters told the spectators at Arthur Ashe Stadium, many of whom rose to shower her with a standing ovation. "I just wish it wasn't today."

NHLPA expected to make counter-proposal this week

NHL. Fehr says Tuesday's offer from league 'doesn't make much of a difference'

There is no new deal on the horizon in the NHL's collective bargaining talks.

A day after receiving a proposal from the league that commissioner Gary Bettman labelled "meaningful" and "significant," the NHL Players' Association made it clear Wednesday it didn't share that view.

Donald Fehr, the NHLPA's executive director, took issue with the fact the offer included a reduction in the players' share of revenue to 46 per cent — when factoring in changes to how hockey-related revenue is calculated — and said it would see the amount of money players give up to escrow increase "significantly."

As a result, the union concluded the proposal wouldn't actually see current contracts paid out in full.

"From a players' standpoint, you should understand, it doesn't make much of a difference," said Fehr. "Should the player not get the dollar value that is on his contract because

Tuesday's league proposal called for revenue to be split 50-50 for the final three years of a six-year deal. However, by the NHLPA's calculation, the actual number players would end up receiving is equivalent to 46 per cent — a claim Bettman acknowledged to be "in the ballpark."

there is a rollback, which is simply a name for crossing out one number and writing in another, or whether he doesn't get an amount because there is escrow, he still doesn't get it.

"It amounts to the same thing."

The union plans to deliver a counter-proposal by the end of the week, perhaps as soon as Thursday. With a Sept. 15 deadline for a lockout creeping closer, progress would be made if the two sides could simply start speaking the same language. The calculation of hockey-related revenue — or HRR — has emerged as a sticking point.

That number is currently used to calculate the salary cap, with players receiving 57 per cent, and the NHL has proposed changes that would lessen the total pot available.

able. According to a source, the league would like minor-league salaries to count as an expense and believes caps should be removed on revenue-generating activities such as concessions.

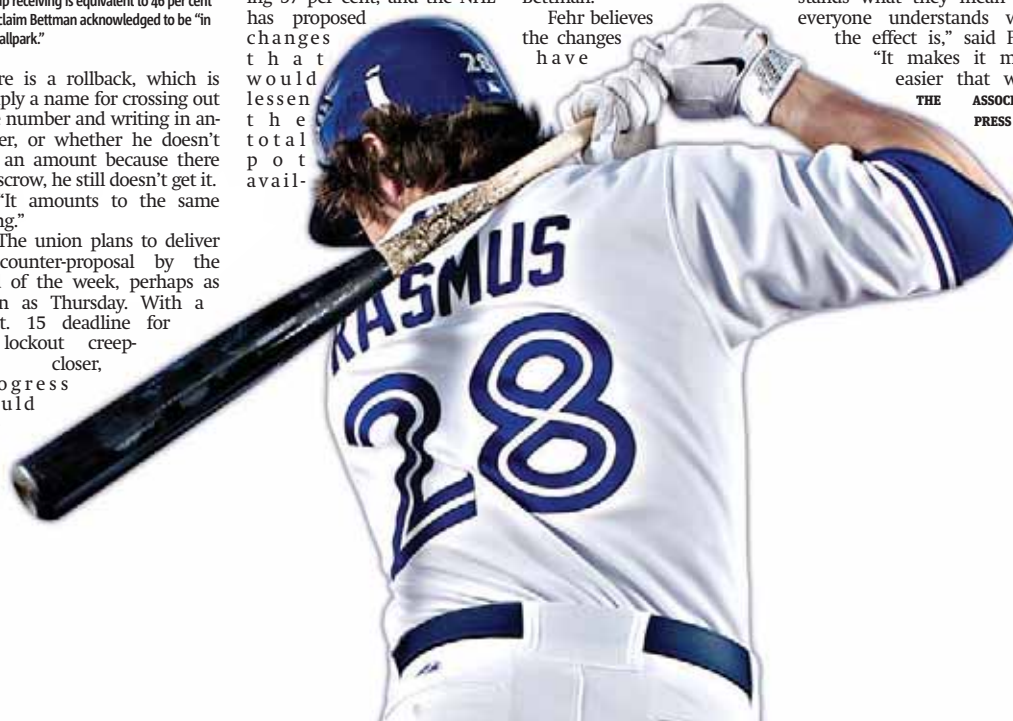

"What we're trying to do with the definition of changes is better reflect the reality," said Bettman.

Fehr believes the changes have complicated negotiations. With the ambiguity created by the redefinition of HRR, not to mention a smaller pot of money to draw salaries from, the players are calling for the status quo.

"From our side, it's better to leave things the same because everyone understands what they mean and everyone understands what the effect is," said Fehr. "It makes it much easier that way."

"Any sense that our initial offer didn't have any sense of fairness to it then you need to consider what is fair looking at both sides."

NHL commissioner Gary Bettman, who no doubt rankled the union when he suggested players should feel no "entitlement" to 57 per cent of revenues just because that number was included in the agreement coming out of the 2004-05 lockout. The league's initial offer in July called for the ratio to be flipped so that players would end up getting 43 per cent.

Cohon gets Grey Cup ready for wild ride

CFL commissioner Mark Cohon poses for a photo with the Grey Cup in front of the Grey Cup 100 Train in Toronto on Wednesday. Canada's biggest football prize is travelling across the country by train this fall, stopping in more than 100 communities to celebrate the cup's 100th anniversary. MICHELLE SIU/THE CANADIAN PRESS

NFL. Rogers expected to announce extension of Bills-in-Toronto series

Rogers Sportsnet is set to make a big announcement Thursday, amid speculation that a deal has been extended for the Buffalo Bills to play one regular season game a year in Toronto.

This year's Bills vs. Seahawks game on Dec. 16 is the fifth and final regular-season game in the current five-year $78 million deal. Discussions have been under way between Rogers Media and the Buffalo Bills about extending the Bills in Toronto.

By the numbers

Rogers has received criticism for the high price of tickets to previous Bills-in-Toronto games. For this year's game, every section has been reduced with tickets starting at $48 for Level 500 and a maximum of $225 for Field Level VIP seats.

"I'm not surprised," said Chris Rudge, Argos chairman and CEO. "I've heard the stories that they're going to extend their agreement. We know Rogers is very fond of their relationship with the Bills. It hasn't had any impact on us to this point."

Buffalo has won only one of its previous four regular-season games — a 23-0 shut-out of the Washington Redskins last October before an announced Rogers Centre crowd of 51,579. In the other matches, Buffalo lost 16-3 to Miami in 2008, 19-13 to the New York Jets in 2009, and 22-19 to Chicago in 2010.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

If you cannot seem to make up your mind about an issue that should be cut and dried by now just choose a path and follow it to whatever destination it leads. Ultimately all roads lead to where you need to go.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

If something that has been going smoothly comes to an unexpected stop today there is no need to panic. All that is happening is that you are being given a chance to reconsider your options. Make the most of it.

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You might be tempted to overlook someone's faults and failings today but only do so if it does not leave you at a disadvantage. It's good to be generous but some people just cannot be trusted. Wise up.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Something you were enthusiastic about just a few days ago no longer seems like such a good idea, but don't walk away from it yet because the planets indicate it still has meaning and value. Give it more time.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

You may decide to let someone off the hook, even though they don't deserve it. The simple fact is you don't have time to chase or chastise them. Hopefully they won't be so stupid as to test your patience again.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Something you are expected to do may not make a lot of sense but do it anyway and then forget it. If the powers that be say it's got to be done then trust them to know what they are talking about.

♏ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

You have been a bit free and easy with your cash of late (no change there then!) and will have to make some cutbacks today. You don't have to starve yourself but five star dining is out, for now.

♐ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

A project you have been working on for some time is moving ahead at a snail's pace and you may be tempted to junk it. Don't! Today's Sun-Pluto link suggests you are about to enter a more dynamic phase.

♑ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Ignore the critics and cynics and strike out in a new direction. One quality you have never lacked is courage, so be brave and be the kind of Sag who tries something new and exciting each and every day.

♒ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Once you understand a problem it ceases to be a problem. Knowledge removes all fears. Well, that's the theory anyway and you will get the chance to put it to the test today. Ask yourself: what can I learn?

♓ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Recent upheavals were no doubt shocking but as you are the sort of person who thrives on change you had fun as well. Not everyone was so fortunate though, so you may need to help with some counselling today.

♈ Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Your luck is changing for the better, though that may not yet be obvious. Today's Sun-Pluto link will catapult you into the limelight and demand that you take a leadership role. Don't be scared. SALLY BROMPTON
